Item 4 - Services, Fees and Compensation

World Investment Advisors, LLC (“WIA” or “Adviser”) was established in March 2015. WIA is a wholly owned subsidiary of WIA Holdings, LLC.

WIA sponsors a wrap fee program (“Pensionmark Portfolio”) that is custodied with Schwab Institutional (“Schwab”), a division of Charles Schwab & Co, Inc. WIA provides advisory services, giving continuous advice based on the client’s individual needs. Through personal discussions in which goals and objectives based upon the client’s personal objectives are established, the firm will develop a personal investment policy based upon the WIA Client Profile and manage the portfolio according to the criteria.

Through Pensionmark Portfolio, WIA provides investment recommendations based upon a review of the client’s investment goals, financial situation and risk tolerance. Pensionmark Portfolio accounts may be managed on a discretionary or non-discretionary basis, as specified in the written advisory agreement (“Agreement”). Clients have the option of accepting WIA’s recommendations or selecting alternative investments for their accounts. WIA offers periodic rebalancing of the securities or upon the client’s direction. We may also provide monitoring and reporting of portfolio performance to clients on a periodic basis.

Third-Party Money Management

WIA has access to a wide range of non-affiliated investment advisors (“third-party money managers”) via the Envestnet ENV2 platform to offer asset allocation and asset management services to WIA advisory clients. Each IAR shall assist their client in formulating a strategic investment portfolio based on the client’s investment objectives. Once formulated, if appropriate for the client, a suitable third-party money manager is selected to implement and continually manage the portfolio. In preparing the portfolio, each IAR may set restrictions or limitations on the management of the account and will explain to the client the continual account activity transacted by the third-party money manager. Also, WIA will periodically review the current and historical performance record of each third-party money manager.

WIA has also entered into additional agreements with various non-affiliated investment advisors (“third-party money managers”) not available on the Envestnet platform to offer asset allocation and asset management services to WIA advisory clients. In the same way as mentioned above, each IAR shall assist their client in formulating a strategic investment portfolio based on the client’s investment objectives. Once formulated, a suitable third-party money manager is selected to implement and continually manage the portfolio. In preparing the portfolio, each IAR may set restrictions or limitations on the management of the account and will explain to the client the continual account activity transacted by the third-party money manager. Also, WIA will periodically review the current and historical performance record of each third-party money manager.

The relationship of WIA with any third-party money manager will be clearly communicated to all clients in the third-party money manager’s Client Services Agreement and/or other similar documentation. Each third-party money manager is required to provide WIA and the IAR with a disclosure document statement, typically a copy of their Form ADV 2A. The third-party money manager’s Form ADV 2A will be provided to the client by IAR.

Additionally, WIA advisors may recommend the use of WealthPath models to Clients. These models are managed by WealthPath Advisors, LLC. WealthPath advisors are registered as investment advisor representatives of WIA. When offered to their own clients there are no additional fees; however, when offered to the client of other advisors (including other WIA advisors), a portion of the total advisory fee charged is paid to WealthPath in exchange for their investment management services. This may create a conflict of interest, because although the fee paid by the Client is not impacted, WIA may receive additional remuneration when WealthPath is selected as the manager of the Clients' assets because WealthPath is not an outsourced third-party money manager. WIA's fiduciary responsibility is to always choose the manager or portfolio that is in the best interest of the client, and WIA does not promote the exclusive use of WealthPath as a third-party manager alternative.

WIA may recommend stocks, bonds, mutual funds, or other assets of any kind, consistent with the client's investment objectives. Most types of securities are eligible for purchases in the Pensionmark Portfolio account including but not limited to, common and preferred stocks, exchange traded funds, closed end funds, unit investment trusts, corporate and government bonds, certificate of deposit, mutual funds, and certain wrap class alternative investments, such as hedge funds.

WIA also offers a non-wrap program, WIA Wealth, which is described in the firm's ADV Part 2A. In a wrap fee program, clients are charged an all-inclusive wrap fee on Program Assets that covers advisory, execution, custodial and reporting services on Eligible Assets. A portion of these fees will be paid to WIA for advisory services. Clients may incur certain charges imposed by custodians, brokers, and other third parties such as fees charged by managers, custodial fees, deferred sales charges, odd-lot differentials, transfer taxes, wire transfer and electronic fund fees, and other fees and taxes on brokerage accounts and securities transactions. Mutual funds and exchange traded funds also charge internal management fees, which are disclosed in the fund's prospectus. Such charges, fees and commissions are exclusive of and in addition to WIA's fee, and WIA shall not receive any portion of these commissions, fees, and costs.

Reasonable Restrictions

Each client has the ability to impose reasonable restrictions on the management of his/her account, including the designation of particular securities or types of securities that should not be purchased for the account, or that should not be sold if held in the account. If a client's instructions are unreasonable or an investment advisor representative believes that the instructions are inappropriate for the client, WIA will notify the client that, unless the instructions are modified, it may cancel the instructions in the client's account. A client will not be able to provide instructions that prohibit or restrict the Investment Adviser of an open-end or closed-end mutual fund or ETF with respect to the purchase or sale of specific securities or types of securities within the fund.

Fees and Compensation

Fees for the Pensionmark Portfolio program will cover advisory services, performance measurement, transaction costs, custody services, and trading. These fees do not cover the fees and expenses of any underlying funds purchased in the account. Fees are based on the assets in the account and are generally assessed monthly.

Pensionmark Portfolio accounts are charged an all-inclusive "wrap fee" on Program Assets that covers advisory, execution, custodial and reporting services on Eligible Assets. Clients pay all Pensionmark Portfolio's usual and customary commissions, transaction fees and other charges for transactions on Excluded Assets. Commissions and fees on Excluded Assets and other charges will be assessed against a client's account on or about the transaction date or such other date assessed by the Pensionmark Portfolio Program. See the Program Fees and Account Minimums section below for details of fee exclusions, calculations, refunds and other information. The imposition of the minimum fees may cause the effective Program Fee rate (expressed as a percentage) to be greater than the fee rates specified in the table below.

The specific manner in which fees are charged by the Firm is established in a client's written agreement. Fees are generally based on a percentage of assets under management as of the last day in the previous billing period, calculated at an annual rate, and billed in advance based on the number of days in that particular period. In some instances, other methodologies for calculations of fees (i.e., fees payable in arrears or on a quarterly basis) may be employed and will be specifically outlined in the client's Agreement. Fees are usually based on the assets in the account per the schedule below and in some instances, may be negotiated. WIA may also engage with clients under a flat-fee structure; however, the fees assessed will not exceed the percentage fees outlined below.

Fee Schedule

Gross Market Value	Maximum Annual Fee
$0 - $500,000	3.00%
$500,001 - $1,000,000	2.75%
$1,000,001 - $2,000,000	2.50%
$2,000,001 - $5,000,000	2.25%
Over $5,000,001	2.00%

A minimum annual fee of $30 per quarter ($120 annually) will be charged. Accordingly, a client may pay an effective rate greater than the rate specified in the fee schedule shown above. The firm, in its sole discretion, may waive its minimum fee and/or charge a lesser investment advisory fee based upon certain criteria (e.g., historical relationship, type of assets, anticipated future earning capacity, anticipated future additional assets, dollar amounts of assets to be managed, related accounts, account composition, client negotiations, etc.).

In addition to the fees outlined above, a separate fee of up to 0.05% (5 basis points) may be levied by Envestnet or Tamarac, the firm's technology platforms used for billing and reporting ("platform fee"). This fee may be levied in addition to the advisory fee assessed for investment management services and is not billed as a separate line item. The annual Envestnet/Tamarac platform fee will not exceed 0.05% or a $100.00 minimum annual fee, prorated monthly, whichever is greater. Accordingly, a client might pay an effective rate greater than the rate specified in the fee schedule on their Advisory Agreement. The $100.00 fee resets annually based on the month the account was originally opened. In the event a third-party money manager is implemented in a client portfolio, the annual Envestnet/Tamarac platform fee will not exceed 0.15% or a $150.00 minimum annual fee, prorated monthly, whichever is greater. This fee may be reduced based on the amount of investable assets and is in addition to the advisory fee assessed by WIA and the third-party asset manager for investment management services.

If a client's Agreement becomes effective as of a day other than the first day of a billing period or if a termination of a client's Agreement is effective on a day other than the last day of a billing period, the Fees for that billing period shall be prorated (calculated on a per diem basis) and the applicable amount promptly paid by Client to WIA or refunded by WIA to Client, as the case may be. Fees will be deducted from the account directly unless the Client requests to be billed separately. Generally, no further proration is done for additions or withdrawals made during the fee period.

A portion of the fees described herein will be paid to WIA Financial Advisors in connection with the provision of investment advice and/or client-related services within those programs. This compensation may be more than WIA's Financial Advisors would receive if clients paid separately for investment advice, brokerage, and other services and therefore, WIA Financial Advisors may have a financial incentive to recommend the program services over other programs or services.

Load and no-load mutual funds may pay annual distribution charges, sometimes referred to as 12b-1 fees. 12b-1 fees come from fund assets, therefore, indirectly from client assets. Some mutual funds within this program pay 12(b)-1 service fees (normally 0.25% per year) to the Custodian. For certain ERISA accounts, 12b-1 fees in whole or in part are credited back to the account to offset fees charged. The mutual funds the Firm could purchase or recommend offer a variety of share classes, including some that do not charge 12(b)-1 fees and are, therefore, less expensive. Typically, WIA does not recommend mutual funds that charge 12(b)-1 fees when other share classes are available. However, there are instances in which WIA would recommend a mutual fund that carries a 12(b)-1 fee, even when a lower-cost share class is available for the same fund. For example, a lower-cost class share may not be available to WIA due to investment minimums, or the custodian may make available certain funds which do not carry a transaction fee. WIA does not receive any part of the fees charged by Mutual Funds, and as a fiduciary to your account, will select the most appropriate fund share class.

The wrap program may cost the client more or less than purchasing such services separately and will depend on the trading activity in the client's account. The cost of non-wrapped investment advisory services may be lower than investment advisory services provided under the wrap program. Because WIA may receive more compensation from a client from the client's participation in the Program than if the client received advisory services and brokerage services separately, WIA may have a financial incentive to recommend the Program to clients over other types of advisory services.

WIA may give advice to others that may be different from the advice given to Program clients. Clients should consider the value of the additional consulting services when making such comparisons. The combination of custodial, consulting, and brokerage services may not be available separately or may require multiple accounts, documentation, and fees. In addition, certain advisors may not be available to certain clients outside the consulting relationship because of minimum account sizes, fee schedules, geographic availability, or other factors. A non-wrapped pricing arrangement may be more cost effective for accounts that do not experience frequent trading activity. Because of the single fee charged to a Program account, WIA may be regarded as having a conflict of interest in that it may realize a greater profit on a Program account with a relatively low rate of portfolio turnover compared to other types of accounts, assuming the same level of fees. However, WIA is constrained by fiduciary principles to act in its clients' best interests.

All fees may be subject to negotiation. When negotiating fees, factors considered include, but are not limited to: (i) clients with multiple accounts; (ii) size of the account; (iii) a prior or existing relationship; and (iv) a client's particular needs or financial characteristics. Because fees may vary, clients with existing accounts may be charged fees which differ from the foregoing fee schedules, or the fees paid by other clients.

Other costs that may be assessed and that are not part of those outlined above include fees for portfolio transactions executed away from the broker/custodian selected by the client, dealer mark-ups, electronic fund and wire transfers, spreads paid to market-makers, and exchange fees, among others. Brokers/custodians may charge clients certain additional and/or minimum fees.

The Program wrap fee does not include: (i) annual account fees or other administrative fees, such as wire fees, charged by custodians (ii) certain odd-lot differentials, transfer taxes, transaction fees mandated by the Securities Act of 1934, and charges imposed by law with regard to transactions in the client's account; and (iii) advisory fees, expenses or sales charges (loads) of mutual funds (including money market funds), closed-end investment companies or other managed investments, if any, held in client's account.

As of December 31, 2024, the Firm had $24,345,157,752 in discretionary assets under management and $31,939,237,892 in non-discretionary assets under management.

Account Termination

Client and/or the firm may initiate termination of the contract at any time by sending written notice to the contra party and will be accepted the day that it is received by the contra party. WIA does not charge a fee for terminating the account, but the custodian may charge a termination fee.

Upon written receipt of notice to terminate its client Agreement, and unless specific transfer instructions are received, WIA and its representative(s) will cease advisory services. Should the client provide specific instructions to liquidate, WIA will proceed with liquidation of the client's account in an orderly and efficient manner. There will not be a charge by WIA for such redemption; however, the client should be aware that certain securities impose redemption fees as stated in each company's prospectus. Additionally, custodians may assess additional redemption fees for short-term liquidations. Clients must keep in mind that the decision to liquidate security issues or mutual funds may result in tax consequences that should be discussed with the client's tax advisor. Factors that may affect the orderly and efficient manner would be size and types of issues, liquidity of the markets, and market makers' abilities. Should the necessary securities' markets be unavailable, and trading suspended, efforts to trade will be done as soon as possible following their reopening. Due to the administrative processing time needed to terminate client's investment advisory services and communicate the instructions to client's Investment Advisor, termination orders received from clients are not market orders; it may take several business days under normal market conditions to process the client's request. During this time, the client's account is subject to market risk. WIA and its representative(s) are not responsible for market fluctuations of the client's account from time of written notice until complete liquidation. All efforts will be made to process the termination in an efficient and timely manner.

Item 5 - Account Requirements and Types of Clients

WIA provides advisory services to Individuals and Retirement Plans including, 401(k) Plans, 403(b) Plans, pensions and profit-sharing plans, non-qualified plans, foundations, endowments, corporations, or other businesses not listed above. For Wealth Clients, Adviser generally does not require a minimum account size, but may impose a minimum annual consulting fee.

Certain third-party money managers may require a higher minimum account size as disclosed in the individual manager's Firm Brochure. Under certain circumstances, the minimum may be waived, including related accounts that may be combined to meet the minimum if the services involved may otherwise be provided.

Item 6 - Portfolio Manager Selection and Evaluation

WIA serves as the portfolio manager in the wrap fee program. WIA may outsource its portfolio management by using outside portfolio managers for the referenced Program. WIA uses industry standards to measure the performance of its portfolio managers; however, the firm does not use a third-party auditor to review and verify the performance of its portfolio managers.

Item 7 - Client Information Provided to Portfolio Managers

WIA is usually both your registered investment adviser and your portfolio manager. WIA may outsource its portfolio management by using outside portfolio managers for the referenced Programs. In some cases, your portfolio manager has the same access to your information as WIA. This information may include, among other things, income, net worth, risk tolerance, and investment objectives. Portfolio Managers use this information to determine an appropriate asset allocation and manage investments. When a client updates their information with WIA, portfolio managers will be provided with the same updated information.

Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

WIA does not charge any performance-based fees (fees based on a share of capital gains on or capital appreciation of the assets of a client).

Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Investment recommendations are based on an analysis of the client's individual needs and are drawn from research and analysis. Security analysis methods may include the following:

- Fundamental analysis: WIA attempts to measure the intrinsic value of a security by looking at economic and financial factors to determine if the company is underpriced or overpriced. Fundamental analysis does not attempt to anticipate market movements. This presents a potential risk, as the price of a security can move up or down along with the overall market regardless of the economic and financial factors considered in evaluating the stock.
- Technical analysis and charting: WIA attempts to determine the trend of a security by studying past market data, including price and volume. This presents a potential risk, as the price of a security can change direction at any time and past performance is not a guarantee of future performance.
- Cyclical analysis: WIA attempts to identify the industry cycle of a company to determine whether the company is in a market introduction phase, growth phase or maturity phase. Generally projected revenues, growth potential and business risk may fluctuate based on the company's cycle stage.

Information for this analysis may be drawn from financial newspapers and magazines, research materials prepared by others, annual reports, corporate filings, prospectuses, company press releases and corporate ratings services.

It is important to note that investing in securities involves a risk that clients should be prepared to bear. For any risks associated with Investment Company products, please refer to the prospectuses for additional details about these risks. Our investment approach constantly keeps the risk of loss in mind. These risks include, but are not limited to:

- Interest-rate Risk: Fluctuations in interest rates may cause investment prices to fluctuate. For example, when interest rates rise, yields on existing bonds become less attractive, causing their market values to decline.
- Market Risk: The price of a security, bond, or mutual fund may drop in reaction to tangible and intangible events and conditions. This type of risk is caused by external factors independent of a security's particular underlying circumstances. For example, political, economic, and social conditions may trigger market events.
- Inflation Risk: When any type of inflation is present, a dollar today will not buy as much as a dollar next year, because purchasing power is eroding at the rate of inflation.
- Reinvestment Risk: This is the risk that future proceeds from investments may have to be reinvested at a potentially lower rate of return (i.e., interest rate). This primarily relates to fixed income securities.
- Business Risk: These risks are associated with a particular industry or a particular company within an industry. For example, oil-drilling companies depend on finding oil and then refining it, a lengthy process, before they can generate a profit. They carry a higher risk of profitability than an electric company, which generates its income from a steady stream of customers who buy electricity no matter what the economic environment is like.

- Liquidity Risk: Liquidity is the ability to readily convert an investment into cash. Generally, assets are more liquid if many traders are interested in a standardized product. For example, Treasury Bills are highly liquid, while real estate properties are not.
- Financial Risk: Excessive borrowing to finance a business' operations increases the risk of profitability, because the company must meet the terms of its obligations in good times and bad. During periods of financial stress, the inability to meet loan obligations may result in bankruptcy and/or a declining market value.

Voting Client Securities

As a matter of firm policy and practice, WIA does not vote proxies on behalf of Pensionmark Portfolio advisory clients. Clients retain the responsibility for receiving and voting proxies for any and all securities maintained in client portfolios. Clients should contact their financial advisor if they have any questions and/or to obtain this information. Clients will receive their proxies directly from their custodian or transfer agent.

Clients can authorize investment managers to vote proxy requests on their behalf in their client agreements. Please refer to the respective investment manager's Form ADV for a full disclosure of its proxy voting policies and procedures.

Item 8 - Client Contact with Portfolio Managers

Clients may communicate with portfolio managers directly during normal business hours. Consultations beyond normal business practices may require additional negotiated fees.

Item 9 - Additional Information

Disciplinary Information

Registered investment advisers are required to disclose all material facts regarding any legal or disciplinary events that would be material to an evaluation of WIA or the integrity of WIA's management. WIA has no information applicable to this Item.

Under the common control of WIA Holdings, LLC, WIA is affiliated with Goldman Sachs & Co., LLC, a FINRA broker-dealer (Member SIPC) and SEC Registered Investment Adviser, Pensionmark Securities, LLC ("PSC") and World Investments, Inc., FINRA broker-dealers (Members SIPC), World Advisory Services, Wealth Advisory Group, Inc., and Financial Planning Concepts of America, Inc., all SEC Registered Investment Advisers. WIA is also affiliated with World Insurance Associates, LLC, Scotts American, LLC, Keating, LLC, ESA Associates, LLC, FastComp, LLC, Hamond Safety Management, LLC, Pacific Coast NCA Premium Finance, LLC, and World Insurance Programs, LLC, all insurance agencies engaging in Life, Health, Long Term Care, Variable, and various other Insurance business.

Recommendations for Goldman Sachs investment products are limited to a small subset of products approved by WIA. No incentives are provided to WIA or WIA Investment Advisor Representatives to recommend Goldman Sachs products over other investment products.

WIA is also affiliated with other financial services companies, but does not have any shared business dealings, operations, referral programs, clients, representatives, or premises with these other companies, and has no reason to believe the firm's relationship with them otherwise creates a conflict of interest with WIA clients. A full list of WIA's affiliates will be provided upon request.

Investment Adviser Representatives (“IARs”) of WIA may effect securities transactions for Clients as registered representatives of Pensionmark Securities, LLC (“PSC”), St. Bernard Securities, LLC (“St. Bernard”), or World Investments, Inc. (“WII”), all FINRA broker-dealers. WIA is affiliated with PSC and WII through the common control and ownership by WIA Holdings, LLC. WIA has no affiliation with St. Bernard. Advisors that are registered representatives of these firms may recommend either of the two firms with whom they are registered for broker-dealer services. Factors for such a recommendation may be when transaction compensation is seen as a benefit to the client. For broker-dealer services, PSC, St. Bernard, WII, or their associated persons may receive compensation, which is separate and distinct from compensation related to investment advisory services. Commissions paid to advisors for broker-dealer services may be higher or lower than those paid by other brokers.

All FINRA, SEC, and other regulatory agencies disclosure requirements and policies are observed for all transactions. If a trade error were to occur, it may result in profit or loss to the firm. The firm has controls in place to limit such trade errors. Investment Advisers will not participate in any profits resulting from such errors.

One WIA Advisor is also registered as an Advisor with Icon Wealth Partners, LLC. (“IWP”). This Advisor utilizes IWP for their individual wealth clients, and only utilizes WIA for their Retirement plan business. Some Investment Adviser Representatives (“IARs”) of WIA may also be registered as IARs of Acrisure Investment Advisory Solutions, LLC (“Acrisure”). However, these IARs do not effect any transactions through Acrisure. One WIA Advisor is also registered as an Advisor with Nexus338, an advisory firm providing technology-based retirement plan managed account services to non-WIA clients . WIA is not affiliated with IWP, Acrisure, or Nexus338.

Investment Adviser Representatives (“IARs”) of the Adviser may also be licensed as insurance agents with Pensionmark Securities, LLC, an insurance agency engaging in Variable Insurance business. Limited non-variable products may also be offered through the insurance agency.

Individuals may also write Insurance business through Pensionmark Partners Insurance Services, LLC (“PPIS”) as independent insurance agents. PPIS is affiliated with WIA through common control and ownership. PPIS is an insurance producer group engaging in Life, Health, Long Term Care and Variable Insurance business. Variable insurance products will be offered exclusively through PSC, while non-variable products will be offered directly with an insurance carrier through the producer group contracts. Compensation will be paid directly by these entities.

Individuals licensed as Registered Representatives or Insurance Agents may spend as much as 50% of their time on these non-advisory activities. When a client’s Advisor is acting in their capacities as registered representatives or independent insurance agents, clients will be charged separately from their advisory services. Clients have the option to purchase investment products that we recommend through other brokers or agents that are not affiliated with WIA.

Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

WIA has adopted a Code of Ethics for all supervised persons of the firm describing its high standard of business conduct, and fiduciary duty to its clients. The Code of Ethics includes provisions relating to the confidentiality of client information, a prohibition on insider trading, a prohibition of rumor mongering, restrictions on the acceptance of significant gifts and the reporting of certain gifts and business entertainment items, and personal securities trading procedures, among other things. All supervised persons at WIA must acknowledge the terms of the Code of Ethics annually, or as amended.

Advisors of WIA may buy or sell securities that are recommended to clients. WIA's employees and persons associated with WIA are required to follow the Code of Ethics. Subject to satisfying this policy and applicable laws, officers, directors, and employees of WIA and its affiliates may trade for their own accounts in securities which are recommended to and/or purchased for WIA's clients. The Code of Ethics is designed to assure that the personal securities transactions, activities, and interests of the employees of WIA will not interfere with (i) making decisions in the best interest of advisory clients and (ii) implementing such decisions while, at the same time, allowing employees to invest for their own accounts. Under the Code certain classes of securities have been designated as exempt transactions, based upon a determination that these would not materially interfere with the best interest of WIA's clients. In addition, the Code requires pre-approval of many transactions, and restricts trading in close proximity to client trading activity. Nonetheless, because the Code of Ethics in some circumstances would permit employees to invest in the same securities as clients, there is a possibility that employees might benefit from market activity by a client. Employee trading is continually monitored under the Code of Ethics to reasonably prevent conflicts of interest between WIA and its clients.

Advisors may recommend and trade in the same securities with clients and/or related accounts at or about the same time. Generally, this would pose a conflict if the Advisor or related account were given a better price than the client. To mitigate this conflict, it is procedure to not trade an Advisors account or related persons' account on the same day as a client unless the client gets the better price.

Trades may be done on an aggregated basis when consistent with WIA's obligation of best execution. In such circumstances, the Advisor (or related account) and client accounts will share commission costs equally and receive securities at a total average price. WIA will retain records of the trade order (specifying each participating account) and its allocation, which will be completed prior to the entry of the aggregated order. Completed orders will be allocated as specified in the initial trade order. Partially filled orders will be allocated on a pro rata basis. Any exceptions will be explained on the order.

WIA's clients or prospective clients may request a copy of the firm's Code of Ethics by contacting WIA at (888) 201-5488 or by sending an email to compliance@worldadvisors.com.

Brokerage Services

WIA generally recommends that clients establish brokerage accounts with Charles Schwab & Co., Fidelity Institutional Wealth Services, or Pershing Advisory Services ("Schwab", "Fidelity", "Pershing", or collectively, "the Custodian(s)"), FINRA registered broker-dealers, members SIPC, to maintain custody of clients' assets and to effect trades for their accounts. In some instances, WIA may recommend clients establish brokerage accounts with other custodians. We recommend the services of the Custodian based on several factors including financial strength, reputation, execution, pricing, responsiveness, fees, research, and other services. Although WIA may recommend that clients establish accounts at the Custodian, it is the client's decision to custody assets with the Custodian.

WIA does not direct brokerage to a particular venue for execution, but rather relies on the Custodian (with the exception of bond trades that may be directed to a third party available to WIA through the Custodian's Platforms). Fees and commissions charged by Fidelity or Schwab may be higher or lower than obtainable elsewhere. Circumstances occasionally arise when Schwab or Fidelity must impose a separate or special handling or custodial charge for acting as custodian for an exempt security or private placement that was recommended by WIA to a WIA Advisory Client. On a case-by-case basis, WIA may cover the cost of this type of fee on a "value-added" basis by having the fee directly billed to WIA rather than the Client or by reimbursing the Client. WIA is independently owned and operated and not affiliated with Schwab or Fidelity.

Custodians may make products and services available to WIA that benefit WIA but may not directly benefit its clients' accounts. Many of these products and services are used to service all or a substantial number of WIA accounts. Some of these products and services provided includes software and other technology that provides access to client account data (such as trade confirmations and account statements); provides research, pricing, and other market data; facilitates payment of fees from clients' accounts; and assists with back-office functions, recordkeeping, and client reporting.

WIA clients can benefit when trades are aggregated to obtain volume discounts on execution costs. Trade aggregation refers to the practice of combining orders for execution. When consistent with WIA's duty to obtain best execution, multiple client transactions will be aggregated into a single order in order to obtain the best price for clients. In such circumstances, the accounts will share commission costs equally and receive securities at a total average price. WIA will retain records of the trade order (specifying each participating account) and its allocation, which will be completed prior to the entry of the aggregated order. Completed orders will be allocated as specified in the initial trade order. Partially filled orders will be allocated on a pro rata basis. Any exceptions will be explained on the order. Trade aggregation will typically be done at the branch level.

For third party money managers WIA recommends, WIA does not direct brokerage in these accounts. Brokerage practices of separately managed accounts are disclosed separately in their Brochure(s).

Review of Accounts

Accounts are assigned to IARs who are responsible for performing periodic reviews and consulting with the respective client. Accounts are reviewed no less than annually by the Advisor. Factors that are considered during such reviews include, but are not limited to, the following: investment objectives, targeted allocation, current allocation, suitability, performance, monthly distributions, concentrated positions, diversification, and outside holdings. Examples of situations that may impact Client's account would be the following: performance that is not in line with the client's "downside risk tolerance," change in investment objective, the client making a significant addition or withdrawal of capital from the account, rebalancing of the portfolio if current allocation and targeted allocation are not consistent, concentrated position(s) that could lead to volatility, etc. Accounts may also be subject to a secondary review by a designated supervisor. Such supervisory reviews will be done on a periodic basis. The supervisor will oversee the selected accounts for the same triggering factors as mentioned above.

Advisor has the ability to provide performance reports for assets under advisement through the Envestnet and Tamarac data aggregation and portfolio reporting tools. For data aggregation purposes, these reports may include information for assets managed by the Adviser for both commissionable and fee-based accounts.

The client agrees to inform the firm in writing of any material changes to the information included in the Client Profile or any other change in the client's financial circumstances that might affect the manner in which client's assets should be invested. Clients may contact the firm during normal business hours to consult with the firm concerning the management of the client's account(s).

Client Referrals and Other Compensation

WIA, in some instances, may compensate third-party promoters for Client referrals. For a promoter to be compensated by WIA for referring a Client to WIA, the promoter must be engaged by WIA under a Promoter or Referral Agreement (“Agreement”) in compliance with Section 206(4)-1 of the Investment Advisers Act of 1940. In general, a promoter is compensated by a percentage of the advisory fee collected for a limited period specified in the Agreement. The Client pays no additional fee for the referral over and above WIA’s quoted advisory fee; to the contrary, the fee the Adviser earns is reduced by the amount of the compensation to the promoter. A Client who is referred by a promoter will receive the promoter’s separate Disclosure Statement describing the nature of the arrangement in detail.

Clients may request details regarding a particular Agreement by contacting us toll-free at (888) 679-6067 or by emailing compliance@worldadvisors.com.

Certain mutual fund companies, record keepers or other third parties (“Third Parties”) will periodically sponsor educational seminars for participating financial advisors designed to facilitate and promote professional development and product knowledge. To encourage participation, Third Parties will cover travel-related expenses for certain advisors to attend these meetings. Such expense reimbursements are only permissible by WIA when pre-approved, and after review of the agenda and estimated costs. WIA will not approve expense reimbursements by the Third Parties for travel unless the travel expenses appear reasonable and customary; lavish expenses will not be approved. WIA Advisors do not base recommendations on the expectation of such conference and travel.

In addition, WIA or its Advisors may host events where Third Parties “sponsor” a specific portion of the event, e.g., the cost of a dinner. WIA Advisors do not base recommendations on the expectation of such event sponsorship.

Custody

WIA is deemed to have custody of client funds because investment advisory fees are directly debited from some Client accounts. Debiting of fees is done pursuant to authorization provided by the Client. Clients should receive statements at least quarterly from the selected qualified Custodian that holds and maintains client’s investment assets. WIA urges clients to carefully review such statements and compare the official custodial records to the account statements that WIA may provide. WIA’s statements may vary from custodial statements based on accounting procedures, reporting dates, or valuation methodologies of certain securities.

WIA is also deemed to have custody of client assets as a result of certain Clients’ authorization for WIA and/or its IARs to distribute assets from their account(s) to a specific named recipient on demand in accordance with a standing letter of instruction. WIA intends to comply with the SEC No-Action Letter dated 2/21/2017 (Investment Adviser Association) allowing firms complying with the provisions of the No-Action Letter to forego an annual surprise custody examination with respect to those assets.

Investment Discretion

WIA typically acts in a discretionary capacity for its Wealth Clients but may act in a non-discretionary capacity. Discretionary authority provides the WIA Advisor with the authority to determine, without obtaining specific Client consent, both the securities to be bought and sold in their accounts as well as the dollar amount/quantity of securities to be bought and sold.

If discretionary authority is granted to select the identity and amount of securities to be bought or sold, clients must authorize such discretion in writing in the advisory agreement. In all cases, such discretion is to be exercised in a manner consistent with the stated investment objectives for the particular client account. When selecting securities and determining amounts, WIA observes the investment policies, limitations, and restrictions of the clients for which it advises. Investment guidelines and restrictions must be provided to WIA in writing.

WIA may recommend third party money managers. When acting in a discretionary capacity, the firm can evaluate managers and may switch money managers or reallocate assets among managers without consulting the client. When acting in a non-discretionary capacity, the Advisor will make recommendations, but only the client has the authority to hire or switch money managers or reallocate assets between programs. In all cases, the Advisor will monitor the performance of the third-party money manager and will make recommendations consistent with the client's investment objectives and risk tolerance.
